Samuel Stanfield (Standfield)

Samuel Stanfield, a Quaker of Lurgan in Shankill Parish, County Armagh in Northern Ireland, was born about 1690. He married Jane Andrew on November 14, 1711 at Lurgan. Lurgan is at the southern end of Lake Neagh, southwest of Belfast. Both were members of the Lurgan Friends Meeting. Jane was a daughter of William Andrew Sr. of Lurgan. They immigrated to Chester County, Pennsylvania in 1729.

The Stanfields of Ireland were all of English extraction. John Stansfield, born about 1665, of Shore, West Yorkshire, may have been the father of Samuel Stanfield. Other researchers have proposed a link with Squire Samuel Stanfield of Audenshaw near Manchester, a Presbyterian.

Historians tell us that virtually all the early population of the northeast counties of northern Ireland in the 17th and 18th centuries came from the north of England or Scotland. They came as planters and tradesmen, or as refugees from religious persecution. The Quaker Standfields of Yorkshire²⁰ are known to have suffered arrests and seizures of property.²¹ It may be that the Stanfields came from the north of England and stayed in Ireland no more than one or two generations. Like many other Quakers, they eventually decided to move from Ireland to William Penn's colony in America, where their sect was well-favoured.

The minute books and marriage books of the Friends meetings at Lurgan, Ballyhagan, Lisburn, and Ulster Province meetings give some insight regarding Samuel Standfield which I did not have at the time of the 1996 version of this book:

Samuel Stanfield is first mentioned by the Lurgan Quakers in 1709. He may have been a son of John Stanfield, who was a member of the nearby Ballyhagan Friends meeting in the parish of Kilmore as early as 1701. The Ballyhagan minute books before 1705 are lost, but a note in 1711 referred to past troubles in 1701 regarding John Stanfield. John had a known son Ocran and a daughter Sarah.

1705 10th of 6th month at Ballyhagan

There being a weighty concern upon friends in this meeting concerning the behaviour of [John] STANFIELD least he should in his dealing and commerce with one called Squier Lukas ... being a man that hath been bad apt to gett into debte with those that employeth him, ... thought it was needfull to send two friends (viz) William Brownloe & William ... the said Lukas concerning him saw need least it should happen that he might ... Cause the way of truth to be evill spoaken of - Also to take a testimony from ... Sarah STANFIELD daughter of the sd John to that end to see whether ... object why it should not be published.

1705 the 2th of the 9th month at Ballyhagan.

[John] STANFIELD haveing not performed according as Expected to James [Lukas] ... in Letting him have some winter beans in payment for money being due unto the Sd James Therefore its the desire of this meeting that the friends formerly Concerned (viz) Wm Richardson & Robert Barns doe continue care and returne their account thereof to the next mens meeting.

1705 the 14th of the 10th month at Ballyhagan.

... before mentioned to speake to John STANFIELD and his son Ocran doth not what things promised by them from time to time is duley observed but rather on the contrary not takeing thatt care as they ought also what friends might reasonably expected of them, therefore this meeting is under a jealousy that friends and truth is in danger of suffering reproach by their actions, so that its the Judgment of this meeting that friends draw up a testimony against their proceedings. Therefore this meeting has appointed Wm Brownloe Wm Richardson Francis Hobson and Wm Gray to draw the sd testimony and shew it unto them for that end that they may make their objections.

1711 Att a mens meeting held at Ballyhagan 7 mo: 14.

There being a diffrence formerly depending betwixt James Tough & John STANDFIELD which they refered formerly to some friends Who gave this Judgement theron the 29th of the 11 mo: 1701(1704?) which haveing referance thereunto may more fully appeare: And by reason of none performance of some parts of the said Judgemt their hath some new controversy araisen betwixt the sd James Tough & John STANFIELD & Ocran his son and for to end the same they have mutually made choise of William Richardson Wm Hobson John Williamson & William Gray to end the same and this meeting hath chosen William Brownloe Robt Delapp & Jacob Nicholson for their assistance to fully end and determine all differances depending betwixt sd partyes. The persons before nominated have gone about it and have done what they well cann untill some things be made more clearly appear by the sd parties therfore have referred their Judgmt giveing untill next preparative meeting.

1711 Att a preparitive meeting held at Ballyhagan 9th mo: 15.

William Hobson being formerly appointed to disiere Ocran STANFIELD to be at this meeting and he not appeareing at this time Therfore ffrancis & William Hobson is disiered to acquaint the sd Ocran to be at our next mens meeting and to bring Robt Douglas alonge with him.

1711 Att a mens meeting held at Ballyhagan 10th mo: 7.

In Regard severall friends being absent that were appointed to end that diffrence depending betwixt the sd James Tough and Ocran STANFIELD therfor the matter is defered untill next preparitive meeting And all those before nominated for that buisines to endeavour to be at sd meeting.

1711 Att a preparitive meeting held at Ballyhagan 10th mo: 27.

The matter depending betwixt James Tough & Ocran STANFIELD is defered untill this day two weeks.

1711 Att a Mens Meeting held at Ballyhagan 11 mo 18. pg 34

The friends before nominated about ending the difference .. betwixt Tough and Stanfield have met abt and given their .. thereon: In which John & Ocran STANFIELD is obliged to give and signe some bonds of several (Gules) of payments of that they were found due unto the sd James Tough but by Reason that the sd John STANFIELD could not well come hither to day the matter is deferred untill the 29th day or 31st Instant. (Note in margin: Abt Tough & STANFIELD diffrence.)

1711 Att a Preparative Meeting held at Ballyhagan 12 mo 5. Pg 34

Tho the matter abt signing the above bonds was perfixed to either of the above days and for want of the sd STANDFIELDs appearance is not yett perfected: therefore this meeting desires William Brownloe John Williamson & Robt Delapp to goe with the sd James Tough at some convenient time to John STANFIELDs house if so bee that he canot be gott hither and to endeavour to gett the .. bonds signed. (Note in margin: Abt Tough & Stanfield diffrence - done.)

1711 Att a mens Meeting held at Ballyhagan 12 mo 29. Pg 34

The bonds that John & Ocran STANFIELD are to perfect unto James Tough are not yett signed therefore those before nominated are desired to continue their care therein. (Note in margin: The bonds was signed some time after.)

1719 Att our mens meeting held in LISBURN ye 28th of ye 11 mo.

There being an Oakern STANDFIELD that sometimes frequents our religious meetings and by sum people are reconed one of us but is of an evill life and Conversation friends of this meeting under standing he came from Belihagan side desiers James Morton and Ro: Richardson to make enquiry concerning him whether he was denyed or not and if denyed to get a copy of his denyall.

William Marshall of Lurgan was related in some way to Samuel Stanfield. In 1669, William Marshall and his wife Mary, and their son William obtained a tenement lease from the Brownlows at Lurgan. They were Church of Ireland as late as 1679, when William was a People's Churchwarden of Shankill Parish. William Jr. and his wife Lydia were chastised by the Lurgan Quakers in 1701 as "pretending Quakers." When William Marshall died in 1709, his "relation Samuel Stanfield" helped manage his affairs and gave bond for the indenture of the Marshall children. Attempts were made (unsuccessfully) to contact Marshall relatives in England.

(Note in margin: Was done & sent by post.)

Other possible Stanfield relatives were the wedding guests in 1711 who were selected out of many attendees to name on the wedding certificate (surnames Greer, Henderson, Robson, and Dobson).

The Brownlow leasebook for Lurgan tenements shows that the Quaker Meeting House was between the Marshall tenement of 1666, and the Logan tenement of 1695. James Logan, son of Patrick Logan, was originally from Scotland. James became a secretary for William Penn and statesman in Pennsylvania.

No record was found of any tenement leased to the Stanfields or Andrews. William Andrew was first mentioned in the Lurgan Quaker minutes in 1697, when he and Richard Andrew were subscribers to pay for the new meeting house.

The Stanfield/Andrew marriage certificate of 1711 is found in the Ulster Province Marriage Book, Page 182/154:

Samuel Stanfield & Jane Andrew both of Lurgan Clanbrazill in the County of Ardmagh, having declared their Intentions of marriage with one another before several publick meetings of the people called Quakers, whose proceedings therein after deliberate consideration thereof, Enquiry being made concerning their clearness from all others, consent of parents and relations concerned being obtained, they were permitted to Marry.

Now these are to Certifie all whom it may concern that for the full accomplishing of their said Intentions, according to God's Ordinance the said Samuel Stanfield & Jane Andrew appeared in a publick meeting of the said people mett together to worship God in their meeting house in Lurgan upon the fourteenth day of the Eighth month commonly called November in the year One thousand Seven hundred & Eleven, where being Contracted the said Samuel Stanfield taking the said Jane Andrew by the hand did solemnly declare in manner as followeth. In the fear of God & before this assembly I take Jane Andrew to be my wife promising with the Lord's assistance to be to her a Loving husband till death separate us, and then & there in the said assembly, the said Jane Andrew did declare in like manner as followeth, In the fear of God & before this assembly I give my self to Samuel Stanfield to be his wife & takes him to be my husband promising with the Lord's assistance to be unto him a loving & obedient wife till death separate us.

And as further confirmation thereof, the said Samuel Stanfield & Jane Andrew did hereunto subscribe their names as husband & wife, and they whose names are under written being present with many more at the solemnizing of their said marriage & Subscription aforesaid, as witnesses have sett their hands the day & year above written.

In August of 1715, William Andrew Jr. was disowned by the Lurgan Quakers, after a series of transgressions dating back to 1712. His wife, Miram Bullock Andrew, remained in good standing with the meeting.

In 1729, Jane Stanfield and her sister-in-law Miram Bullock Andrew obtained a certificate of removal from Lurgan meeting and emigrated to Pennsylvania early the next year.¹⁸ It is not clear exactly how and when their husbands (Samuel Stanfield and William Andrew Jr.) emigrated, but they appeared in Pennsylvania at about the same time.

Andrew records in the Lurgan minutes:

1697 Att a Particular Mens Meeting held in Lurgan ye 10th day of ye 6th mo.

... In the year 1695 it pleased God to open ye hearts of ye Friends of this meeting to build a meeting house fit for a province meeting or other large meetings – ye usual one formerly made use of being too little and going to decay. There were two Standfield/Stanfield families in colonial Pennsylvania. The Francis Standfield family were also Quakers, who came to Pennsylvania in 1683 from Cheshire in England.²² Apparently the two families became associated in Pennsylvania only when a great-grandson of Francis Standfield, James Fisher, married Samuel Standfield's daughter Alice in 1736 at Kennett, Chester County, Pennsylvania. There is some evidence that Francis Standfield came from Yorkshire prior to residing in Cheshire.²¹ Francis was probably the son of James Stansfield of Brighthouse. Samuel Standfield of Pennsylvania was probably also descended from James of Brighthouse. It is unlikely that the the two Standfield families of Pennsylvania were aware of any common ancestry.

Upon arrival in Pennsylvania, Samuel and Jane Standfield settled first in East Nottingham, Chester County. Nottingham had been surveyed and settled on the Baltimore Pike as a planned strategy to gain advantage in the border dispute between William Penn and Lord Baltimore. East Nottingham Meeting was established as early as 1700 by Quakers from the Marcus Hook area of Chester Co., Province of Pennsylvania, on a land grant from William Penn called the Nottingham Lots. The land grant stipulated that a small parcel of land be set aside, about 40 acres, for a meetinghouse and graveyard. This was done and a log meetinghouse was built.¹ The location was rather remote for its time, being about 50 miles southwest of Philadelphia, almost to Octoraro Creek at the western boundary of Chester County. The final border settlement put the Pennsylvania-Delaware boundary through the township, leaving the East Nottingham meeting house on the Maryland side. The remoteness, and risk of trouble with native Indians, may have led some of the Nottingham settlers to relocate closer to Philadelphia. Even though William Penn's benevolent and fair dealings with the native peoples had been very successful in preserving good relations with the Quaker settlers, tensions and hostilities were growing among the general population. The Quakers themselves were sometimes resented for not assisting in subduing the Indians. For whatever reason, Samuel and Jane decided to leave East Nottingham about a year after their arrival. They moved closer in on the Pike, to Kennett, about 30 miles from Philadelphia, in the spring of 1731. The following entry concerning their "certificate of removal" from Nottingham has been preserved.ⁱⁱ

At Our Meeting of E. Nottingham held the 20th of ye 1st Mo 1730/31.

Samll Stanfield hath requested of this meeting a certificate on behalf of himself & his wife to ye mo'ly meeting of Kennett. Arthur Barret & John Churchman are therefore appointed to make Enquiry in to his conversation & Prepare a Certificate accordingly & bring to ye next Mo'ly meeting.

At our mtg of E. Nottingham held ye 17th of ye 2nd mo 1731.

The Friends appointed to make Enquirey into ye Conversation & Circumstances of Samll Stanfield have given this meeting an acct yt they find nothing to obstruct him of having a Certificate & have Brought one wch was read, approved & signed at our mtg of E. Nottingham.

Samuel and Jane Standfield had six children, Alice, John, Jane, William, Samuel and Mary.^{2,10,23} It is not known with certainty where the first three children were born. The Pennsylvania records imply that the "three younger children" were the only ones born at Kennett. The three oldest children (Alice, John, and Jane) were probably born in the north of Ireland before the immigration.

The only known studies of descendants of Samuel and Jane Standfield are those of Alice Standfield Fisher and James Fisher.^{23,24} That line has been traced to hundreds of descendants in Ohio, Iowa, Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas, Texas and elsewhere. An interesting possibility is that Cephas Fisher Sr., a grandson of James Fisher and Alice Standfield, may have married his Standfield (third) cousin.²⁷ In 1803, he married Rachel Standfield, daughter of Thomas Standfield and Hannah Vernon, in Greene County, Tennessee. Thomas Standfield is likely a descendant of John, the son of Samuel who went to Orange County, N. Carolina, although this has yet to be studied.^{16,17} The descendants of the other Standfield family of colonial Pennsylvania, that of Francis Standfield, all derive from daughters of Francis. James Standfield, only son of Francis, died in 1699 with no male heir surviving childhood.²²

Samuel Standfield and wife Jane probably lived out their lives at Kennett. They were both at the marriage of daughter Alice to James Fisher on Valentine's Day in 1736.⁶ The birth of their youngest child Mary was recorded in 1738.¹⁵ Jane was at the wedding of son John at Kennett in 1742,⁶ but Samuel (Sr.) had apparently died by that time. No later records have been discovered for Samuel and Jane.

Jane Andrew was a daughter of William Andrew Sr. of Lurgan, County Armagh, Ireland. William Andrew Jr., of Lurgan, emigrated with Samuel and Jane. When John, son of Samuel and Jane, married Hannah Dixon at Kennett in 1742, William Andrews was one of the family in attendance.⁶ William Andrew Jr. had married Miriam Bullock of Lurgan meeting at Lurgan, County Armagh in 1717. George, son of William and Miriam, was born 1719 at Lurgan.⁴ In New Jersey, possible relatives are Samuel and Peter Andrews of Burlington monthly meeting.⁵

The Yorkshire Standfields^{20,21,26}

Samuel Standfield was a Quaker settler who came to Pennsylvania from Lurgan, near Belfast, Ireland, in 1729. He married Jane Andrew in 1711 at Lurgan. Samuel probably came from the Standfield (Stansfield, Stanfeld) family who had been in west Yorkshire many generations, with a family seat at Stansfield, in Halifax Parish. Samuel was a probable son of John Stansfield of Halifax, a descendant of James Stansfield of Brighouse. Francis Standfield, another early Quaker settler in colonial Pennsylvania, who emigrated from Cheshire, was probably also descended from James Stansfield of Brighouse. If this identification is correct, the two Standfield families of colonial Pennsylvania were related.

The Standfields were in Yorkshire at least as early as 1539, when Margareta Stansfeld married Antonius Smyth at Halifax. One branch, the Thomas Stanfield family, lived in east Yorkshire, around Burstwicke and Patrington. However, most of the family records can be found in the Parish of Halifax, in west Yorkshire. James Stansfield of Manckinholes Monthly Meeting, son of James of Brighouse Monthly Meeting, had at least six children, Martha, Abraham, Susannah, Joshua, and twins Johnas & Johnathan. The first six were born between 1667 and 1683. Another probable daughter, Mary, “daughter of James of Parish Hepton-Stall, Co. York,” married John Barker in 1690. Abraham and Lidia Stansfield died in 1669, prisoners at York Castle and were buried at Mankenholes. Deborah Stansfield, “daughter of George,” died in 1669.

John Stansfield, who died at Shore in 1685, had at least two daughters, Lidia and Susan who died young in 1670 and 1673 respectively, and at least one son John II. John II was probably the father of Samuel Standfield, who moved to the north of Ireland before 1711 and emigrated to Pennsylvania about 1729. John III, son of John II and Mary, was born in 1702. “Mary Stanfield of Blythe” died in 1708. In 1671, Charles Stanfield was arrested with a group of Quakers who had four pounds eight shillings taken in tithes. Charles Stansfield died at Shore in 1685. In 1678, John and James Stansfield were arrested and had titheables taken worth four pounds sixpence, including corn, hay, and each a piece of Kersey (woolen cloth). In 1683, one of the John Stanfields was arrested at “Stanfield cum Langfield,” and had “four Kine, two Heifers and an Horse, worth 24 pounds” taken in tithes.

In 1670, Francis Standfield was arrested at a meeting at Cartop (Probably Cutthorpe in Berkshire, near the Cheshire line) and had nine pounds taken in tithes. Francis, probably the son of James of Brighouse, emigrated to Pennsylvania in 1683. In 1681, a Johnathan Stanfield was present at a wedding at [?Malersey?].

Thomas Stanfield was imprisoned five weeks in 1652? for “exhorting the People assembled at Patterington” and refusing to pay sixpence for tithes. He was “carried to jail” and had goods taken worth six pounds eightpence. Thomas had at least four children, Sabrina, Salamona, Zachariah, and Elisha, all born between 1660 and 1667. Thomas died at Burstwicke in 1670.
